Closure threat to children's centres

The ABC Children's Centre in Old Harlow

TWO children's centres in Harlow are facing the axe under proposals to shut 11 across Essex.

Conservative-led Essex County Council, which also plans to halve the opening hours at a further 33, said research showed some centres were "not being used" and had not attracted the vulnerable people for which they were set up.

Under the proposals - which the council said would save £2.5m between 2014 and 2016 - the ABC Children's Centre in Old Harlow and Sunflowers Children's Centre at Summers Leisure Centre in Broadly Road would close.

The ABC centre, above right, would be merged with Potter Street Children's Centre while Sunflowers would merge with the Treehouse Children's Centre in Parnall Road.

The council said Old Harlow was "an area of lesser deprivation" while Sunflowers was "geographically close" to Treehouse where there are better facilities.

County councillor Dick Madden, cabinet member for families and children, said research had been carried out in April into the use of the centres before the proposals were drawn up.

While acknowledging the centres were "valuable in our communities", he said the council had to make savings across all areas.

"We are committed to delivering children's centre services at a time when the financial challenges that we face are unprecedented," he said.

"Reduced funding from central government, together with the impact of inflation and increasing demands for services, means Essex County Council needs to save around £215m by 2016-17.

"This is on top of the £365m already saved over the previous three years. Simply put, we can't afford to deliver everything we want."

He added: "There are centres that in fact are just open and not being used and are not very viable. They were set up for the most vulnerable but many of the vulnerable do not really use them."

But parents say the centres provide valuable services that cannot be found elsewhere and for some people travelling to another centre would not be possible.

Posting on the Star's Facebook page, Nicole Richardson said: "Cutbacks should be made elsewhere, not the children's centres. It's all they have left after most of the parks are gone and (the) only thing babies have."

And Kelly Byford posted: "Why do the children have to suffer the cutbacks? There's not enough for them to do as it is."

The proposals have been blasted by Harlow Labour parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride, who said: "The children's centres provide vital services to families in Harlow and play a crucial role in bringing the community together."

"We will be fighting against the Tories plans to close these centres. Labour in government would be putting families first and supporting children's centres."

"Harlow is being unfairly hit hardest by the county council cuts. The Tories are out of touch and Harlow is not their priority."

Councillor Emma Toal, Harlow Council's cabinet portfolio holder for youth and citizenship, said: "The children's centres in Harlow do vital work to support parents and children. The proposed closure of two children's centres will concern many local families."

"With these proposals and the review of youth services it is vital that county council cuts aren't just the same in all areas in the county."

"We will work to make sure the County Council recognises the needs in Harlow."

All the centres in west Essex are run by Spurgeons on behalf of the county council.

A demonstration against youth service cuts will be held outside County Hall in Chelmsford at midday on Thursday (October 31).

Pensioner assaulted by thugs suffers broken arm and hip

A PENSIONER suffered serious injuries and faces major surgery after he was assaulted by a group of youths as he walked through an underpass in Harlow.

The 76-year-old victim was walking through the underpass between Staple Tye and Bishopfield last Wednesday after buying a lottery ticket from a local shop when he was approached by four teenagers at about 5.15pm.

He was assaulted and suffered a broken hip and broken arm.

Detective Sergeant Mick Orr, of Harlow Police, said: "This was a totally unprovoked attack on a 76-year-old man who on his way to the shops to get a lottery ticket."

"We are appealing for information and witnesses to come forward if they recognise the descriptions or have seen any of these people at or around the time of the assault."

"We would also like to speak to a woman who helped the victim after the attack."

The suspects are all aged between 14-19. The first is described as tall, white, thin and very aggressive. He had light hair but was wearing a hood. The second is smaller with dark hair, dark skin and was wearing a grey hood with possibly a brown cap underneath.

The victim was unable to give a description of the other two suspects.

Two youths aged 14 and 17 arrested on suspicion of causing grievous bodily harm with intent have both been bailed until November 21 pending further enquiries.

Redundancy shock for Raytheon staff

THE jobs market in Harlow has been dealt another blow with the loss of more than 50 at defence systems manufacturer Raytheon Systems.

The US firm said 51 staff at its Pinnacles base will be made redundant when the manufacturing arm of the business is transferred to Scotland at the end of the year.

The company said it had made every effort to retain as many staff as possible by offering them jobs elsewhere in the business.

The news comes just months after Tesco closed its Flex Meadow distribution centre. Pitney Bowes and GlaxoSmithKline have also moved staff away from the area.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who visited the firm this week, said: "It's tragic to see these redundancies, especially given the years of work that many of these employees have done.

"Raytheon is a good company, and I know they are looking to have new premises in Harlow. I'm hoping in the long term there may even be more jobs in the future."

The company confirmed that they are committed to the town and will be looking at opportunities to expand in the future.

One employee, who asked not to be named, said: "Most of the staff have been with the company for a very long time. Some have been there for 40 years and as you can imagine are very upset and worried at this decision."

Man, 79, died after being hit by car late at night

A HARLOW pensioner died after being hit by a car and flung 180ft through the air, an inquest heard.

Retired factory inspector Henry Bailey, 79, of Dunstalls, was struck by a Mercedes driven by Mohammed Mannan on the A120 west of Little Hadham.

Mr Mannan thought he had hit a deer and continued to drive to his home in Buntingford despite the windscreen of his car being shattered. The inquest in Hatfield heard on Tuesday how Mr Bailey had been seen several times by witnesses on the road on Tuesday, March 27 at around 11pm.

PC Alan Kemp said Mr Bailey's body ended up about 180ft from the point of impact. A post mortem report said he would have died almost instantaneously.

A statement by Mr Bailey's brother Peter said he was a quiet man with a good sense of humour. But after his wife took her own life in 1987 he distanced himself from his family and was last seen in October 2008 at a funeral.

Assistant coroner Mr Solomons recorded the cause of death as a road traffic collision.

● In September last year Mr Mannan admitted failing to stop after accident and was found guilty of failing to report the accident. He received 120 hours unpaid work, nine points on his licence and £620 costs.

READERSLETTERS

There's still time for a common sense solution to save HWRA

SIR, Harlow Council's statements in the Star (October 10) and the comments in Cllr Edna Stevens' letter (October 17) on the subject of Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice are misleading.

Readers of the article would assume that it is HWRA which launched legal action against the council. In fact, HWRA has defended action taken by Harlow Council.

HWRA offered to pay all the money owed to the council through a repayment plan that included a substantial immediate payment. The council responded by terminating HWRA's funding contract with two days notice, leaving hard-pressed local residents with no specialist advice service to turn to.

HWRA challenged this action. The council requested an adjournment of the court hearing set up to determine whether the contract had been lawfully terminated and then launched proceedings to wind HWRA up before the agreed adjournment period had expired. HWRA is defending the winding-up proceedings.

Contrary to the statement that the council is acting to protect taxpayers' money, it has always been clear that the course of action councillors were advised to take would cost taxpayers far more than agreeing to HWRA's request for time to pay. The financial damage caused to HWRA has resulted in the loss of valuable funding contracts, advice services and jobs.

In her letter, Cllr Stevens refers to the decision of the district auditor. The auditor did not consider the issues raised in HWRA's legal action because these are matters for the courts, not the auditor.

Cllr Stevens refers to the Citizens Advice Bureau service but omits to mention that she is on the CAB management committee. HWRA supplies specialist advice services that are complementary to the general help services supplied by the CAB.

The advice centre has been empty since the council changed the locks after HWRA staff left work for the evening on January 28.

HWRA remains hopeful that common sense will prevail and that councillors will review the advice provided to them and work with HWRA to restore these much-needed services.

I would remind readers that HWRA trustees are Harlow residents who work voluntarily, with no financial allowances, to support the service and the staff in their excellent work for our community. We have no political axes to grind and we have been available at all times to discuss these matters with councillors and officers.

Advice bureau does not provide same services as welfare rights

SIR, I have absolute respect for the work done by the Citizens Advice Bureau and do not seek in any way to detract from the work which it does. However, it is clear that Cllr Edna Stevens (Letters, October 17) is wrong in her assertions that it has filled the void left by HWRA.

I have checked the website of CAB. The service describes itself as "primarily an advice provider" and also states the advice is "generalist". This is not a political statement, it is a quote from the CAB website.

It is accepted that HWRA gave advice but it also

Include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

Was it council policy to leave garages in a state of disrepair?

SIR, Almost two years ago I contacted my local councillor about the state of the garage block where I rented a garage which had suffered vandalism and neglect and was in serious need of repair.

After several months of zero action I contacted council leader Mark Wilkinson so see if he could achieve anything. Despite a number of promises from him over a number of months of work about to start nothing has ever happened.

Finally I gave up and handed in the keys. Why pay good money for a damaged and flooded garage in a neglected block which are an eyesore and dumping area for people's rubbish?

But I now see the council's master plan which makes total sense! Hack off all garage users by letting the garages fall into disrepair so that they give up their garages and park on our spacious roads and then knock down the garages down and build houses. Absolutely brilliant.

John Murrell
Upper Mealden, Harlow

Rescue centres are struggling to cope with abandoned pets

SIR, The appalling story of the young cat and kittens imprisoned in a box and left to die (Star, October 17) is an extreme case illustrating the growing problem in the area.

Animal rescue centres are simply unable to cope with the demand to take these cats in. Some people cast their pets aside when they become mildly inconvenient, others feel forced to give them up due to changed personal circumstances - common ones being affordability or the need to move into rented accommodation where landlords will not accept pets.

Neutering of all cats, male and female, is essential to prevent the population of unwanted cats from increasing. There are no good reasons not to neuter pet cats - the Harlow, Epping Forest & District branch of Cats Protection is offering free or subsidised neutering for cats in the area at participating vets during October and November.

name and address supplied

We would ask those wanting to acquire a cat or kitten to consider the commitment and also not to buy from private individuals, over the internet or via pet shops as this encourages people to breed cats thinking they will be able to sell them.

Instead we would ask would-be owners to take on an unwanted cat or to adopt from a rescue centre. A responsible one will neuter both male and female cats before rehoming if old enough and chase up/help adopters to get kittens neutered.

To end on a more optimistic note, we are glad to report that last week's tale had a happy ending with homes being found for all the cats.

Sue Harris, co-ordinator Cats Protection
Harlow, Epping Forest & District branch

MP deserves 'Mr Harlow' tag

SIR, Given the financial mess the Labour government left this country in, it would be very easy for an MP to suppose the problems we all face as a nation are too huge for a single person to do anything about.

I am pleased to say, however, that we have an MP in Harlow who is tireless in his pursuit to improve the lives of the constituents he represents. This month's jobs fair organised by Robert Halfon is one example among many where he has shown that his nickname in the House of Commons of 'Mr Harlow' is the right one.

Given the choice between voting for someone who successfully campaigns for things that constituents want and need such as jobs, apprenticeships and cheaper fuel rather than remaining silent on the issues of the day in hope that the tide of political opinion may one day change in their favour, I know how I would vote.

Cllr Russell Perrin (Conservative)
Civic Centre, Harlow

Energy companies not to blame

SIR, The letter in last week's Star about energy prices wrongly blames the energy companies. Of the 15 major EU states, the UK has the fifth cheapest electricity prices.

Spare a thought for consumers in Denmark and Germany, whose politicians jumped on the wind and solar bandwagons. Their electricity prices are respectively 72 per cent and 55 per cent higher than ours.

The real reason the UK's electricity prices are so high is a consequence of Labour's Climate Change Act, the energy policies from which the Conservative/Liberal-Democrats continue to uphold.

We close or mothball our existing efficient & low-cost coal-fired power stations whilst Germany, Japan, India and China add huge extra coal-fired capacity. Government ministers implore consumers to shop around for the best prices whilst simultaneously not allowing power companies to do so.

Those power companies have to pay the highest prices via feed-in tariffs for wind and solar generated power irrespective of whether the grid needs that power at a particular time. The power companies also have to keep conventional power stations running on standby for when the wind isn't blowing and/or the sun isn't shining.

It wouldn't be so bad if it was to mitigate so-called 'global warming' but there's been no statistically significant increase in global temperature for the past 16 years. And before any reader mentions the phrase climate change, they should first identify any period in history when the climate didn't change.

Roundabout works to last six months

MOTORISTS are facing months of disruption as roadworks start at one of the busiest gateways to Harlow town centre.

Work at the Burnt Mill roundabout will begin on Monday to improve capacity and reduce congestion at the Elizabeth Way/Fifth Avenue/Edinburgh Way junction by Harlow Town station.

Phase one of the project was completed earlier this year and the next phase is expected to take approximately six months to complete.

The size of the central island will be reduced and an additional dedicated left turn only lane from Fifth Avenue into Elizabeth Way will be added. A pedestrian crossing will be installed on the A414 to improve pedestrian and cyclist safety.

Work will take place during the day but limited during peak hours to minimise the impact on traffic. Some full road closures may be necessary while work takes place on the carriageway. Temporary speed limits will be in place throughout the duration of the works.

County councillor Rodney L Bass, Cabinet Member for highways & transportation, said: "This is a major programme of works and we will be doing everything we can to keep disruption to a minimum while it is taking place."

Street parking near hospital is driving us mad

bianca.castro@hertssexnews.co.uk

RESIDENTS living in roads surrounding Princess Alexandra Hospital say they are paying the price for the hospital's parking charges as they struggle to find spaces for their own vehicles.

Bob Worthington, 79, of Foldcroft, Harlow, has lived in the area for more than 50 years and said parking is now a major bone of contention.

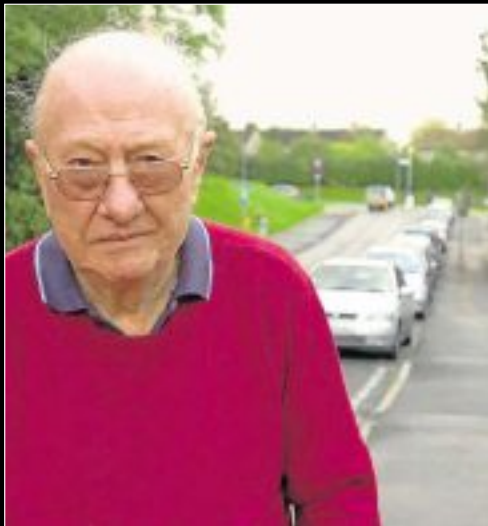

"The people of the hospital park down here," said Mr Worthington, pictured right. "It has become impossible for me to live around here and park my car."

"We have been complaining but nobody has done anything."

He added: "Our councillor, Jean Clark, has been fighting for us and all the problems with parking we have been battling with. The situation is now becoming silly."

"I know parking is expensive at the hospital but that is not my concern and it's no excuse to overrun a street with parked cars. If they are going to the hospital they should park in the appropriate place and pay."

He added: "We are living off one another's backs here. I cannot have friends or family over and the other day, the gas man couldn't find anywhere to park either.

"It is impossible for me to live around here with the parking situation as it is. Something needs to be done."

A spokesman for the North Essex Parking Partnership, which deals with street-based parking in Harlow, and surrounding areas, said: "Residents requesting permit areas should contact the NEPP or Harlow Council direct so it can be considered as part of any future review of residential parking in and around Princess Alexandra Hospital."

Protests over 'ridiculous' parking permits

A GROUP of residents have joined together to fight against imposed parking permits.

Residents of Vince Dunn Mews in Old Harlow were issued with the permits by Moat housing association which said the move was a result of complaints about inconsiderate parking.

Moat is part of the Moat and Denne partnership collectively known as MODE which built the 43 homes in Vince Dunn Mews.

One resident, who has been given two parking permits for one parking bay, said: "It is ridiculous. We have been told to park in Jocelyns or in neighbouring streets if we have more than one car or if we have visitors. When we bought the house we were told we would be able to park by the green but now we can't."

"The permits came in after two complaints. One of those residents has said they didn't want permits but more parking spaces and Moat has just misunderstood.

"We had a meeting of residents which went really well and a petition has been signed by 30 houses out of 43."

A spokeswoman for Moat said: "The permits were put in place following complaints from residents at Vince Dunn Mews about inconsiderate parking."

"There were several attempts to resolve the issues informally but we found that parking issues persisted so the decision was taken to enforce parking restrictions in line with residents' tenancy agreements."

"The road will eventually be adopted by Essex Highways at which point we will review the permit scheme. However, until then it is Moat's responsibility to manage parking at Vince Dunn Mews."

She said representatives of the housing association will visit the area next month to assess the potential for additional parking spaces at Vince Dunn Mews.

Awards celebration for community stars

THE spotlight was turned on community champions at this year's Heart4Harlow Awards.

For the second year the faith group held an awards ceremony to recognise the contribution of those who have served and achieved.

Among the 200 guests who were treated to a three-course dinner at the Manor of Groves Hotel in High Wych was Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who spoke of the positive and hopeful nature of the event and praised its founder, Robert Findlay.

He then presented awards to the 20 winners in the five categories of charity, education, business, community builders and leisure.

Mr Findlay said: "The awards manage to achieve a well-rounded sense of optimism and appreciation by encouraging the public to nominate the winners, allowing hard-working people and organisations to receive the recognition that often goes by the wayside."

"Like last year the event was widely enjoyed, both for the celebration of that which is good in our area but also for the hopefulness that filled the evening of what the future, near and far, can bring to Harlow."

"A hopefulness that is integral to progress."

Throughout the course of the evening guests were entertained with musical performances.

Sanctuary's cat-ologue of 'unwanted' animals

AN animal rescue centre is urgently seeking new homes for cats and kittens in its care.

The Chestnut Cat Sanctuary at Thornwood Common near Epping is struggling to cope following a recent influx of abandoned or unwanted felines including Lily, pictured above. Volunteer Anne King said: "We have lots of cats here who just need a loving home."

"We had a few adopted at our recent open day and we want to remind people that we still have lots of cats here who are desperate for a home."

Council to build homes for first time in 25 years

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A £1.8M housebuilding programme by Harlow Council will see the first new council homes built in the town for almost 25 years.

Cabinet members have agreed to award a contract up to the value of £2.7m to build new homes for rent on disused or underused garage sites.

The contract will initially see 14 new properties constructed as early as next summer, with completion of the project in May 2015.

The cost of the initial project is £1.8m but as more funding becomes available more homes could be built.

Fifteen potential sites have been identified which could provide a total of 91 new homes.

The programme will be funded with money ringfenced for affordable housing.

Councillor Paul Schroder, cabinet portfolio holder for regeneration, said: "This is a key moment for the council and the town."

"This programme will provide new high quality homes for local families on our Housing Needs register and also regenerate disused or underused garage sites."

"This is only the beginning of what we want to achieve from building new council houses which will change the lives of local families who need a home."

Councillor Rod Truan, cabinet portfolio holder for housing, added: "I'm delighted that we've now unveiled our programme to start building new modern council homes."

"Together these two programmes will meet our number one priority - more and better

Cash incentives to tenants to downsize

COUNCIL tenants in Harlow are to be offered cash incentives to downsize in a bid to free up larger homes.

The move is an attempt to ease the current housing crisis by offering support to existing tenants wishing to move to a smaller council home.

It is hoped that the incentives scheme agreed by cabinet on Thursday will free up some of the 3,000 three-bedroom and 380 four or more bedroomed properties.

Under recent changes to the way the council allocates housing, existing tenants in Harlow wishing to downsize are now given higher priority when bidding for homes.

It is estimated that around a quarter of applicants on the Housing Needs Register are prioritised as high or in an urgent need to move with nearly half requiring a home with three or more bedrooms.

Financial incentives will be offered on a sliding scale dependent on the number of bedrooms released from £1,000 for one bedroom to £2,500 for four.

Tenants will have to meet conditions in order to qualify for the following incentives:

An additional £1,000 will be paid if a tenant moves from a house or bungalow to a flat or maisonette and all tenants will receive money to cover removal costs.

Council officers will also provide advice and support where needed on redirecting mail, notifying utility companies, planning for a smaller home, house clearances and removals.

Councillor Rod Truan, cabinet portfolio holder for housing, said: "Our scheme will support residents to voluntarily move into smaller council accommodation, and in the process frees up valuable larger housing for families."

Following changes at the end of last month to the way the council allocates its housing, a review of the Housing Needs Register is currently taking place. Before the changes there were around 5,500 people on the register.

housing."

Conservative group leader Cllr Andrew Johnson said: "I want more housing in the town because we need more homes and I'm happy we are getting more housing. However, I would have looked to see if we are really getting value for money."

"It is possible we could get more housing if the money was given to a housing association. Instead of building 14 homes, maybe we could have had 18."

"I am chuffed about the Right to Buy scheme which is fantastic piece of legislation and has allowed more money for a housing fund."

Kids' party gifts are presented to town's foodbank

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A FAMILY decided to have a birthday party with a difference by asking guests to bring donations of food instead of presents.

Emily Cross, 26, of Felmongers, Harlow, decided to ask for food donations, which would then be given to the Harlow Foodbank instead of bringing presents for the joint birthday party of daughter Sophie Mace who turned four and one-year-old Alex Mace.

"We are in the fortunate position to afford all we need and a little of what we want," Emily, a traffic officer, said.

"The party was a week after Sophie's birthday and she had received gifts from her family and friends.

"When I asked her what she was most excited about for her birthday party she mentioned the cake, and people singing happy birthday and having her friends with her.

"She didn't mention presents."

Emily added: "We cannot afford to give to charity as much as we would like but this was a chance to give something to people who do not have as much.

"I thought it would be better than asking parents to donate money to charity as then it's nice for the children to see how much food they've collected.

"I explained to Sophie and she was happy - at that age, she was just excited for her party."

Twenty guests were told to forgo presents for the birthday girl and boy and instead donate one or two items of food from a list which would then be given to the foodbank.

"The reaction was really positive. Some of the parents bought in more than the one or two items I had asked for - with some of them bringing in whole shopping bags and one mum brought in one of everything on the list.

"I was really touched by so many donations," the mother-of-two said.

"I am really glad that everyone was so positive and a couple of people have said they may do it themselves which is nice."

Gary Knott of Harlow Foodbank added: "Emily has done a wonderful thing. We're so grateful."

Pub crawl in aid of tumour charity

A GROUP of work colleagues will be taking part in a fundraiser with a difference when they go on a sponsored pub crawl for The Brain Tumour charity.

Fourteen employees of home care agency London Care will be leaving their office in Flex Meadow, Harlow, tomorrow (Friday) and visiting 12 pubs where they must all have a drink.

Agency manager Gabriela Swan, who will be taking part in the sponsored pub crawl, said: "We wanted to do something a little different for charity and still raise lots of money. We're hoping to raise £100 each."

To sponsor the group call Gabriela on (01279) 620640.

Store staff in the pink for fundraiser

ASDA staff in Harlow have raised over £800 for two breast cancer charities by holding a Ticked Pink themed fun day in the Water Gardens store.

Shoppers were able to take part in a raffle and traditional fair games such as guess the name of the teddy and guess the weight of the cake. Staff also sold cakes, Ticked Pink lanyards and badges.

In total the Harlow supermarket have raised more than £15,000 for Breast Cancer Care and Breast Cancer Campaign and have been named the top fundraising Asda store in the country for the Ticked Pink campaign.

Rachel Forth, the store's community champion, said: "We raised £834.67 and were awarded the top fundraising Asda store for Ticked Pink in the whole country because our customer are so generous."

Church fundraiser for Haiti children

A CHURCH group will be raising money for children in Haiti by holding an event at the Holiday Inn Express hotel in Harlow town centre on Saturday.

The fundraiser, which runs from 12-5pm, will include talks from UNICEF representatives and an auction of Tottenham Hotspur tickets and shirts.

The House of Mercy Baptist Church, in Katherines, has been fundraising for Haiti schoolchildren since Rev Albert Delali's first visited the country three years ago.

Rev Delali said: "We hope Saturday is a big success and will help us reach our target of helping 100 children get back to school."

ON YOUR MARKS: Sawbridgeworth mayor councillor Angela Alder with family and friends of the Taffs before the start of the 10k run

Runners raise £3,000 in memory of Josh

FRIENDS and family turned out in force at the weekend to mark the first anniversary of the death of Sawbridgeworth teenager Josh Taffs and raise around £3,000 for the Teenage Cancer Trust.

The 17-year-old air cadet, from Hoestock Road, lost his battle with leukaemia on October 24, 2012.

Since then his brother Jonathan, who studies economics at Leicester University, has led fundraising efforts for the charity in Josh's memory.

On Sunday Jonathan led a 10k run alongside his dad, Mark Taffs, who was overcome with emotion when he tried to make a speech at the start line.

"It's been absolutely amazing; we can't thank people enough," he said. "There's been such an outpouring of love for Josh - it's been overwhelming."

Anyone who still wishes to donate to the Taffs' cause can do so by visiting <http://uk.virginmoneygiving.com/team/JoshuaTaffs>.

Jury clears man accused of bottle attack on woman

A HARLOW man accused of hitting a woman over the head with a bottle has been cleared of assault. On Monday a jury of six men and six women returned a not guilty verdict against Chi-keung Poon, 44, of Potter Street, who denied a charge of assault causing actual bodily harm.

Poon, who declined to give evidence during his trial at Chelmsford Crown Court, was alleged to have attacked Lesley Carlaw at Amherst Lodge in Bramble Rise, Harlow, on November 10 last year.

But he claimed he was not the aggressor and that Miss Carlaw had jumped on his back and was cut as he tried to get her off.

Scott Wainwright, prosecuting, told the court Poon had a previous conviction for attacking Janet Godfrey, a friend of Miss Carlaw who was present at the time of the attack last November.

Giving evidence, Miss Carlaw told the jury Poon picked up an empty bottle of brandy and began spinning it round in his hands.

"Miss Godfrey got up and said to him 'what you going to do, use a bottle on me?' All of a sudden he got up and came towards me and smashed the bottle over my head. It exploded on the back of my head and he grabbed me by the scruff of the neck and pulled me off the chair

"He had hold of two handfuls of my hair, pulled me up and threw me on the sofa. He started punching me in the side of the head, nine or 10 times.

"Miss Godfrey managed to pull him off me and I stood up. He grabbed another bottle and smashed it into my mouth. I ran out and went home before going to hospital. I had one cut stitched."

But when he was arrested Poon told police he had been attacked by one of the woman.

"I struggled and I backed her against a wall," he said in a statement. "That's how she must have got the cuts. I didn't punch her. I was attacked, I wasn't the attacker."

Peter Hunter, appearing for Poon, said the allegations levelled against him did not make sense.

"A bottle is allegedly forcibly pushed into her mouth and yet just one tooth is damaged," said Mr Hunter. "She is meant to have received nine punches to the side of the head. If so, wouldn't you see a black eye? But there was just one cut."

"Would you wait for hours to go to hospital if you'd been in an attack like that? It just doesn't add up."

Family distraught after yobs wreck memorial bench

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A COUPLE were left distraught after finding a memorial bench to a family member had been destroyed for the second time by vandals.

The bench at Parndon Wood Cemetery in Harlow was dedicated to Kim Smith - the sister of Linda Harris. It was first damaged in August last year but it was repaired by Mrs Harris' husband, Graham.

However, the vandals struck again and this time left the bench in such a state that it is beyond repair, meaning Mr and Mrs Harris will have to pay £700 to replace it.

Mr Harris 60, said: "The bench is irreparable. The last time it was damaged was a year ago to the day but this time it can't be repaired."

"My wife is distraught as the bench is dedicated to her sister, Kim. She is very upset."

"Her dad used to visit every single week to see his daughter's grave and her bench. He's very ill at the moment but he's been visiting for the last 22 years and this was devastating to him, too."

He added: "We have to get a new bench now as it can't be fixed but it's expensive. It will cost around £700 to replace."

The couple, who live in Rye Croft, were told about the damage to the bench by a neighbour who was visiting the cemetery and was aware that it had been damaged in the past.

"We found out through a telephone call from our neighbour who called to let us know what had happened," said Mr Harris.

"They reported it to the cemetery staff and they have been good to us but the damage has caused a lot of hurt."

Cemetery manager Jason King, said: "We are obviously very saddened about the bench's destruction and have tried to support the family as best as we can."

"I have found a new area for the bench which the family are seriously considering."

The committee will include independent members.

Appeal after girl, 3, hit by car

POLICE are appealing for witnesses to an accident in which a three-year-old girl was injured.

The girl was walking home with her older sister in Northbrooks Harkow when at 3.30pm on Friday when the accident happened.

They were on a pavement when the three-year-old apparently stepped into the road and collided with a blue Peugeot 206 car.

The girl was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital before being allowed home.

15,000 people expected at free Town Park fireworks show

FINAL preparations are being made ahead of Harlow's annual free fireworks night show.

Organisers are expecting about 15,000 spectators to attend the event at the Showground in Harlow Town Park on Sunday, November 3.

Harlow Council chair Linda Pailing will light the bonfire at 6.45pm. There will then be a laser show before the start of the 20-minute fireworks display at 7.15pm.

A stretch of Fifth Avenue between the Sainsbury's and Edinburgh Ways roundabout will be closed to traffic at 5.15pm and re-open at 8.30pm due to the large number of spectators who are expected to arrive at the Showground on foot.

Residents who live in the area around the road closure will be given access and local diversions will be in place.

There will be no parking on site except limited parking for Blue Badge holders arriving before 6.15pm. All other drivers are being told to use town centre car parks.

The council is asking spectators not to take their own fireworks to the event.

Passmores wins award for anti-bullying strategies

A HARLOW school's efforts to tackle head-on the issue of bullying have won it national recognition.

Passmores Academy has been presented with an award by the Bullying Intervention Group for the "excellent" strategies it has adopted which involve pupils at every step.

BIG director Val McFarlane said: "They have a 'whole school' approach to bullying intervention which includes peer mentoring, awareness raising, staff training, involving parents, monitoring and recording of incidents.

"The academy has a wonderful, caring ethos and a family atmosphere. We had no hesitation, on assessing their portfolio of evidence, in giving this excellent school a BIG Award."

Passmores principal Vic Goddard said: "Schools are often reluctant to talk about bullying as they think people may feel that it must, therefore, be an issue at the school.

"We take the opposite approach. If we acknowledge that it can happen and work out the best ways to avoid it then this is going to be best for everyone.

"The fact that we are one of only a few schools nationally that has been recognised makes me very proud but even more determined to work at preventing it."

AWARD: School counsellor Wendy Coleman and principal Vic Goddard with students Shannon Woods, Michael Clarke and Tiegian Meadows

COURT REPORTER

A TEENAGER who broke into a Harlow church and ripped TV screens from the wall causing more than £2,000 worth of damage has walked free from court.

Jake Seaton, 19, pleaded guilty at a hearing in April to a charge of burglary at the Redeemed Christian Church of God in Ward Hatch but sentence was deferred for six months.

Seaton, who has since got a job as a metal worker and moved away from the town, returned to Chelmsford Crown Court on Monday to hear his fate. Recorder John Caudle was told he had saved some money to pay the church compensation and had not committed any other offence since.

The court heard the church pastor had locked the building at 10pm but when he returned the following morning he discovered the break-in. Three flat screens televisions had been ripped from the walls and electric heaters had also been stolen.

Seaton was arrested after traces of his DNA were found on a can of soft drink he had discarded at the scene.

At first he told police he had been looking for work and had gone to see a builder at the church and had a drink there, but he later changed his story and admitted he had gone there at the suggestion of a friend and accepted it was a stupid thing to have done.

Imposing a six-month prison sentence suspended for two years, Mr Caudle said: "I am pleased you are in work and pleased you are staying away from people who might lead you astray."

Seaton was also ordered to pay full compensation of £2,300.

Nursery's celebration of grandparents - and science

BUSY BEES NURSERY

Youngsters and staff at the nursery in Greenways, Harlow, have certainly been busy after celebrating Grandparents Day and then taking part in a Science Alive workshop.

Nursery manager Louise Christie said: "Grandparents Day was lovely. It's the second year we have celebrated it and we had even more grandparents come for afternoon tea and take part in lots of activities with their grandchildren.

"They all got to see what their grandchildren get up to at nursery so we had lots going on.

"We took pictures of the children and their grandparents and gave them a little Busy Bees frame with the photo inside. It was a really nice day."

She added: "The Science Alive workshop was called kitchen chaos and the children loved it.

"There were explosions, they made bubbles - it was about everything that could go wrong while making a meal.

"Everyone really enjoyed it - it was great fun."

Academy's language week gets students talking

BURNT MILL ACADEMY A group of pupils who, collectively, speak more than 40 languages have been giving an insight into their cultures.

Language Week was held at the First Avenue academy to celebrate the school's diversity.

Pupils who took part could speak various tongues including Italian, Turkish, Portuguese, Polish and Hindi.

Mandarin lessons have also been launched at the school. Spanish teacher, Marisa Arnedo, said: "We had lots of students volunteer to put together presentations and give their classmates a taster of their language.

"During the language week we also had food tasting from around the world, played French boules and had a lesson in Hebrew for our Key Stage 3 students.

Children dress up for finale of school's book week

JEROUNDS INFANT SCHOOL Students at the Pyenest Road school spent a week studying books based on the theme of rhythm and rhyme.

Works by Julia Donaldson and Roald Dahl were read, and discussed by pupils.

Children were also treated to a visit from a theatre company which performed The Wizard of Oz. The grand finale of Jerounds' Book Week, which takes place every year at the school, saw students and staff dress up as their favourite book characters.

Penny Jenkins, who organised the book week, said: "The standout thing was the huge effort the children made with their costumes. "Everyone had lots of fun and really enjoyed the activities we had organised."

Changing the lives of local families

Last week was ground-breaking for Harlow Council with the announcement that the first new council homes will be built in the town for almost 25 years.

Initially up to 14 new houses for rent will be built as early as next summer, with more to follow when further funding becomes available. All new council homes will go to local people on our Housing Needs Register.

This is only the beginning of what we want to achieve which will change the lives of local families.

There's a danger that residents will literally be kept in the dark about Essex County Council's plans for street lighting.

Harlow Council believes that residents' concerns should be made known to the county council. I've written to express opposition to the proposal and I'd encourage residents to let the county council know what they think.

There are other big decisions the county council is looking to make to save money like

COUNCIL MATTERS

By Cllr Mark Wilkinson
Leader, Harlow Council

reviewing the youth service which could affect our youth council and proposals to close two children's centres in Harlow.

It's vital that county council cuts aren't just the same in all areas in the county and that they recognise where the biggest needs exist and look to protect and increase investment in them.

Let's hope that the county council recognises the needs in Harlow.

I know that keeping the streets clean is important to residents.

A new team of Kier Harlow street sweepers are in town with brushes and shovels picking up litter from areas which mechanical street sweepers cannot reach.

The street cleaners work in litter hotspots alongside the mechanical sweepers, helping to reduce the time it takes to keep streets clean.

Last week Harlow Council agreed a new way to consult residents and to involve the community in issues which affect them. To find out more visit www.harlow.gov.uk

GP suspended for forging signature on prescriptions

A HARLOW GP who used a patient's identity to obtain drugs for his own use has been banned for 12 months.

Dr Roy Weare only avoided being struck off after the panel took account of his full co-operation and previous good character.

The Medical Practitioners Tribunal Service was told Dr Weare produced false prescriptions and forged the signature of a patient when he went to collect Tadalafil - used in the treatment of erectile dysfunction - from pharmacies in Harlow.

The GP, a former partner at the Ross Practice, at Keats House in The Fairway, also fabricated and deleted records in the patient's medical notes.

He was discovered in June 2011 when the patient was contacted by a pharmacy about uncollected drugs and denied any knowledge of the prescription.

Panel chair Vicki Harris said: "In deciding between suspension and erasure, the panel reminded itself both of the need to impose a sanction that would maintain public confidence but also of the need to be proportionate.

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"The panel balanced Dr Weare's misconduct against his subsequent actions. These included full and immediate confession to the pharmacist, his confession to the partners at his practice and the primary care trust and his visit and apology to the patient.

"The panel also had regard to the strong testimonial evidence which referred to his previous honest behaviour and noted his otherwise unblemished career of 37 years."

Ms Harris said a period of suspension would send a signal to Dr Weare, the public and the profession that dishonesty was behaviour unfitting a registered doctor.

"In determining the length of the suspension order, the panel determined that due to the seriousness in which it held Dr Weare's misconduct, the appropriate period of suspension would be 12 months," she added.

Dr Weare will have to face a review panel before the end of his suspension to prove he is fit to return to unrestricted practice.

Police target known crooks in crime crackdown

POLICE in Essex have launched an autumn crackdown on burglaries with a warning they will be targeting "known criminals".

Officers will be carrying out patrols in areas which have recently experienced burglaries to provide householders with additional reassurance and to act as a deterrent to crooks.

The campaign will also see checkpoints set up on the county's roads to catch criminals on the move.

Last year there was a 28 per cent increase in burglaries across Essex during the October-December period when compared to the previous three months.

Chief Superintendent Carl O'Malley said: "This ties into the clocks going back which makes it much easier for criminals to identify homes that are empty because there are no lights on inside.

"Burglars are always looking for the easy option and empty homes which appear poorly secured and with few crime prevention measures in place will always be their main targets.

"We are aiming to take the fight to these criminals by making the lives of prolific offenders difficult, denying them the use of the roads and quickly identifying any new suspects on our patch.

"At the same time we will have more officers out and about in the areas we know burglars are operating to help people secure their homes and property more effectively."

Former England shotstopper hands over kit

FORMER England goalkeeper Peter Shilton was on hand when a Harlow car retailer showed its commitment to grass roots football by providing a brand new strip to a youth team.

Motorsales Harlow, in Elizabeth Way, will be supporting Bishop's Stortford Rangers under 12s as part of the Vauxhall Youth Football Programme.

Sales manager Marc Phillips said: "Having Peter here to supply the players with a brand new kit marks the starting point to an exciting partnership."

"Vauxhall's sponsorship of the under 12s side highlights the importance of supporting the game from the bottom to the top and showcases just how committed Vauxhall are as England team sponsor. "As well as providing the lads with their new kit we will have a dedicated member of our staff working closely with the team who will give their time and ideas to support the club."

Hospice trustee takes over role of chairman

A FATHER of two who has served as a trustee of St Clare Hospice for the past four years has been appointed the new chairman.

Patrick Foster, pictured right, succeeds Michael Chapman who stepped down from the role last month after nine years in the post.

Mr Foster, 55, who is managing director of a construction firm based in Ongar, took over at the hospice's annual meeting last week.

He praised Mr Chapman who he said had been instrumental in laying the foundations on which St Clare's success would continue in the future.

"We've got some terrifically positive things going on at the moment, especially with the new 'Hospice at Home' service which will enable St Clare to reach so many more people," he said.

"I'm really looking forward to seeing that fully up and running and, beyond that, the hospice continuing to advance."

Mr Foster joined the board of trustees at a time when his late mother, Ruth, was receiving support from the hospice during her battle with cancer. More recently his late sister-in-law, Ann, was cared for at another hospice after having lost her own partner who had also benefitted from hospice care a year before.

"Having seen and experienced through my own family just how crucial hospice care can be, I have a deeper appreciation of the fantastic work St Clare does," he said.

"Being a trustee is very fulfilling and it's very satisfying seeing the difference that can be made to patients' quality of life at such a critical time."

WIN A pair of tickets to see Emil and the Detectives at the National Theatre

JOIN young Emil as he says goodbye to his mother, leaves his small town and sets off on a journey that will change his life.

When his money is stolen on the train by a mysterious stranger, Emil thinks he's lost everything. But as he starts tracking down the thief, he soon discovers that he's not alone in the big city after all.

Emil and the Detectives is being staged at the National Theatre and we have five pairs of tickets to give away.

This production is suitable for everyone aged seven and over. For a chance to win one of five pairs of top price tickets to this fantastic show, answer this simple question:

Which stage at the National Theatre is being transformed into 1920s Berlin?

You can email your answer to competitions@hertssexnews.co.uk making sure you put 'StarEmil' in the subject line. Alternatively, enter online at www.harlowstar.co.uk/Whats-On-Leisure and follow the entry instructions. The closing date for entries is noon on Tuesday, October 29.

NOSTALGIA

MP who gave her name to day centre for elderly

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertssexnews.co.uk

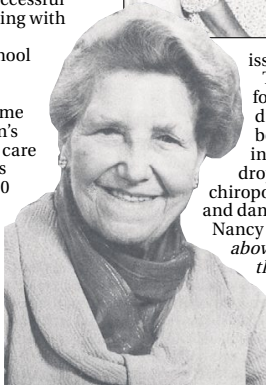

MANY will recognise the name Leah Manning. She was Labour MP for Epping from 1945-50 when the constituency included Harlow and gave her name to the town's first day care centre for the elderly.

As a politician she was involved in the post-war campaign to build a new town on the London/Essex borders.

As well as politics, Ms Manning, pictured below, had a successful career in teaching, working with deprived children and campaigning for free school milk and better school conditions.

In recognition of her time as Harlow's MP, the town's first comprehensive day care centre for the elderly was built in Park Lane in 1980 and named after her.

The Leah Manning Centre was described as a fitting tribute to the woman who had campaigned for the welfare of the elderly, as well as on education, health and family planning issues.

The centre catered for both the disabled and able-bodied. Activities included games, drop-in lunches, chiropody sessions and dancing.

Nancy McNeil, pictured above on the left in the photo with her team, was in charge of all of the activities as well as the day-to-day running of the centre.

Her team of catering and care assistants spent the weeks prior to the opening preparing for their new roles either in nursing or with assisting in the centre's activities.

Ms Manning, who was appointed a Dame Commander of the Order of the British Empire in 1966, died in 1977 at the age of 91. She donated her body for medical research and although there was no funeral a memorial service was organised at Hatfield Broad Oak church.

A commemorative sculpture paid for with donations from a general appeal was created by Christopher Dean and still stands outside the centre.

IT used to be said that schooldays are the happiest of our lives. There certainly seems to be lots of smiling faces in this old school photo taken in the early 1930s.

This photograph, which features in George Taylor's The Archive Photographs Series: Harlow, shows pupils of Fawbert and Barnard's School in Old Harlow.

The London Road school was founded in 1836 under a charitable trust following a bequest in the will of George Fawbert.

The executor of the will, John Barnard, formed a committee of trustees to take charge of the school which in 1891 received its first government grant.

In the 1960s Fawbert and Barnard's School had its own outdoor swimming pool - a first for Harlow - and in 1985 the primary school added a new hall in the style of the original schoolhouse.

Here's one that didn't get away

YOU would need an awful lot of chips to go with this fish which was found floating in the sea off the coast of America.

Marine science instructor Jasmine Santana discovered the corpse of the monster sea serpent, which measures almost six metres in length, while she was snorkelling. She dragged the monster creature by the tail for more than 20 metres before colleagues waded in to the sea and helped her bring it to shore. It's called an oarfish and it's usually found in the depths of the ocean.

Oarfish can grow to 15 metres and can dive to depths of around 5,000ft, which is why it's very rare to spot one.

"We've never seen a fish this big," said Mark Waddington, senior captain of the Catalina Island Marine Institute's training ship. "The last oarfish we saw was three feet long."

Jasmine needed the help of 15 people to drag it back to shore. Experts think it died of natural causes.

The Guide

This high school musical is still the one we want

ONE of the most successful musicals of all time is heading for Harlow at a speed of greased lightning.

Harlow-based youth musical theatre group Rare Productions will be staging Grease at the Playhouse for a three-night run next week.

Set in Rydell High School at the end of the 1950s, it follows 10 working class teenagers as they navigate their way through the complexities of growing up during the rock 'n' roll era.

Grease was first performed in Chicago in 1972 before moving to Broadway where it ran for 3,388 performances before closing in 1980.

Global success followed when it was made into a film starring John Travolta and Olivia Newton-John.

Featuring many well known songs such as Greased Lightnin, Hopelessly Devoted To You, Summer Nights and the multi-million selling, You're The One That I Want, it has become one of the most popular shows for young people to perform.

The show has been unavailable to amateur groups other than schools for a number of years, but has just been released for a very limited period.

Rare Productions wasted no time in taking the opportunity to stage the show which will feature a talented cast of 100 local young people.

>> Grease opens next Thursday and runs until Saturday. Performances start at 7.30pm with a matinee show at 2.30pm on Saturday. Tickets cost

£14 and are available from the box office on (01279) 431945 or online at the www.playhouseharlow.com. Rare Productions offers a special discounted ticket price to groups of young people's uniformed organisations. Email DaveT@rareproductions.co.uk for details.

Lights, camera, action!

YOUNGSTERS at a performing arts school in Harlow got some expert advice from professional camera operatives who have worked on X Factor, Strictly Come Dancing and The Only Way Is Essex.

Dan and Mary Studley visited the Stagecoach class to give students an insight into other aspects of the business.

They gave a talk and then showed how to work a camera, boom and lighting as well as give information about the various crews who work behind the camera.

Mariam Leary-White, who has run the Harlow group for four years, said: "I like to do a workshop with the children at least once a month and for this one we asked Dan to bring in all his equipment so the children got to see it, learn about it and use it which was fantastic."

"Dan answered lots of different questions and we gave a small group some fake gossip for them to act out a scene. We had someone directing, someone on camera, around eight children holding the boom - just like if they were really shooting a show. "They all had the most amazing time. I think that it is important to show children that there is more to acting than just acting."

Fresh approach to Rita's revival is rewarded with fine performances

THE 1980s play Educating Rita has often been compared to Pygmalion and it's easy to see why. Shaw's barbed attack on the Edwardian class system is cleverly reinterpreted in author Willy Russell's biting satire.

The Rita of the title is an outspoken working class hairdresser, whose application for an Open University course brings her into close contact with Frank, a disgruntled academic and very much the reincarnation of Shaw's dysfunctional Professor Higgins.

For all her self-assurance Rita is the Liverpudlian equivalent of cockney flower girl Eliza Doolittle and just like Shaw's reluctant heroine, she too undergoes a life-changing transformation.

By early 20th Century standards Shaw's didactic professor would have been delighted, whereas Frank is suitably shocked by Rita's metamorphosis and sarcastically suggests that perhaps he should change his name to Mary Shelley. It's an analogy that's not lost on the audience.

From the moment Rita barges her way into Frank's study, her inquisitiveness is intoxicating. We may not see the 'painting' on the wall that she refers to in her opening conversation, but her questioning of its dubious erotic possibilities not only sums up her challenging insight, it sets the theme of the entire play as gradually she forces Frank to re-examine both his dour viewpoint and self-confessed mundane existence.

This was a confident production by the Global Theatre Company. Lucy Ashton's winning portrayal of Rita was right on target - from her faultless Liverpool accent to the brilliantly delivered one-liners. It was a consummate performance with copious amounts of wit, charm and timing.

David Millard's portrayal of Frank - bitter, disheveled and full of self-hatred - was also played to perfection. His weary, self-obsessed, drunken academic evoked just the right amount of pathos. Individually these two actors are immensely talented; together they're a tour de force.

The set was simple and functional and the lighting and sound by David Mason, complementary. But it was Michael Philips' expert direction that ensured a fresh approach to a familiar text and made this production of Educating Rita both a thought-provoking experience and a rewarding night out.

The great divide

AT THIS time of year when plants are entering their dormant phase, I always look at the overcrowded clumps of perennials dying down and decide what I need to lift and divide next year.

Dividing plants involves digging them up, splitting them into pieces with roots and growth shoots or buds, and then replanting them. The method stops many herbaceous plants becoming overcrowded, untidy and invasive.

Many perennials, including delphiniums, heuchera, hostas, anemones, phlox and cranesbill geraniums, benefit from regular division to maintain their health and vigour, and require no special conditions when new, divided sections are replanted. Other plants benefit from division every three to four years although some, like asters, are best divided annually. A few, including red hot pokers and peonies, hate being moved so only lift and divide them if you want to propagate them.

The best time to divide plants is autumn, when they are dormant, and spring, when they are just starting into growth. Grasses including bamboos should be divided in early spring, while perennials which flower in spring and early summer, such as lily-of-the-valley, epimediums and rhizomatous bearded irises, should be divided as soon as they have finished flowering.

There are various ways to divide plants. Those with tough roots which are difficult to prise apart, such as hostas, are better off being dug up and then cut into thick slices with a knife like you'd a cake, making sure good roots are present in each slice. Other plants can be lifted carefully with a garden fork, working away from the crown centre to limit root damage, then split into two portions across, each with some roots, shoots or buds. Larger pieces with more roots are likely to flower sooner than small ones, which may take a year to recover. If you are digging up a clump, remove the centre portion, retaining the younger outer parts for replanting. If any sections are short of roots, trim the leaves to reduce moisture loss.

Evergreen and perennial ornamental grasses should be left until spring, when they've had a chance to recover from all the energy they've expended making their feathery plumes in autumn. Young, newly planted grasses also hate sitting in the wet, heavy soil that so often prevails in winter, so don't divide them until spring.

Cut down the foliage of evergreen grasses in spring and divide them, while bamboo stems can be cut down to 30cm (12in). Perennials such as daylilies (hemerocallis) have masses of fibrous roots and large crowns which are difficult to pull apart, so use two forks thrust back-to-back in the centre and work the handles outwards in opposite directions to loosen the clump. You may then have to use hand forks to divide it completely, or cut away sections with a sharp knife.

Plants with fleshy roots, such as delphiniums should be cut with a spade or knife. Divided clumps should ideally contain around three to five shoots.

Divide primulas into rosettes and asters into single rooted shoots. Clumps of epimediums

ON THE WEB

Gardening tips and news

www.harlowstar.co.uk

should be teased apart into separate plants using your hands or a hand fork, replanting on mild autumn days, while crocosmia and crocus clumps can be dug up and the new corms which are resting on the original ones can be eased off and replanted up to 10cm deep.

When replanting, add compost or well-rotted manure to the planting hole on a new site, or a balanced fertiliser if you are replanting the divisions into the same hole. They should be replanted at the same depth in flowering positions and watered in well.

Alternatively, pot up divisions while you decide where you want your new plants to grow, overwintering them in a cold frame.

Before long, you'll have an array of new plants – which won't have cost you a penny.

Teen army recruited to battle space invaders

ENDERS GAME

certificate 12A, 1h54m

PARENTS who have spent countless hours admonishing their children for playing videogames rather than studying hard may want to give this film a wide berth.

The saviours of an imperilled human race aren't the brightest minds of the scientific community. They are socially awkward and emotionally volatile teenagers who display brilliant tactical minds while playing hour upon hour of state-of-the-art videogames.

This generation of handheld and touchscreen champions are called into action after a hostile alien race called the Formics invades the planet and is repelled at the last minute by International Fleet Commander Mazer Rackham (Sir Ben Kingsley), who sacrifices his life to bring down the extra-terrestrial mothership.

The International Military prepares for the next attack by scouring the globe for the best young minds and bringing together raw recruits at Battle School where their talents can be honed.

Ender Wiggin (Asa Butterfield) is one hopeful, determined to impress highly esteemed Colonel Hyrum Graff (Harrison Ford).

At Battle School he distinguishes himself and is transferred to the Salamanders squad managed by a bully called Bonzo (Moises Arias), who won't allow anyone to outshine him in front of the colonel. Thankfully, Ender's kindness and selflessness wins many friends including Petra (Hailee Steinfeld), Bean (Aramis Knight) and Bernard (Conor Carroll).

Endless simulations sort the wheat from the chaff, hoping to identify the one brilliant child capable of leading the resistance when the Formics return.

Based on the books by Orson Scott Card, Ender's Game is a stirring tale of heroism aimed at young adults, following the lead of The Hunger Games by casting award-winning actors in pivotal roles.

Butterfield, who impressed in Martin Scorsese's fantasy Hugo, demonstrates an impressive emotional range as a loner who is desperate to justify his existence in a futuristic world where parents are only allowed to bear two children. "I'm a third, I should never have been born," he reflects tearfully.

The London-born actor galvanises winning screen chemistry with Oscar nominee Steinfeld, while Ford barks and grimaces as a warmonger who will sacrifice everything, including his charges, to quash the alien threat for good.

Director Gavin Hood keeps the action going at a brisk pace, integrating a miasma of digital effects with the live action to ensure his sharp-shooting adventure packs plenty of thrills to complement the tears and heartbreak.

THOR: THE DARK WORLD

certificate 12A, 1h52m

Superhero Thor (Chris Hemsworth) returns to save mankind in this big budget sequel directed by Alan Taylor.

A year has passed since Thor joined The Avengers in the valiant fight to save Earth. The crown prince of Asgard faces a primal race called the Malekith which intends to destroy the Nine Realms of Norse mythology.

Odin (Sir Anthony Hopkins) and the combined forces of Asgard are unable to repel the onslaught so Thor must descend back to terra firma and reunite with his sweetheart astrophysicist Jane Foster (Natalie Portman), who he abandoned at the end of the first film.

Apologies out of the way, Thor and Jane must embark on a perilous road if they are to defeat the Malekith and, unthinkably, Thor must also rebuild bridges with his nefarious adoptive brother Loki (Tom Hiddleston), who could be the difference between hard-fought victory and crushing defeat.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

AUTUMN is a good time of year to start thinking about preparing your home for winter.

As temperatures begin to dip, your home will require maintenance to keep it in tip-top shape through the colder months.

Taking the time to do a few spotchecks around your home now will reduce the likelihood of winter rains, wind and cold causing structural damage.

Clean out the guttering and check for any leaks or damage.

Cast your eye over the roof from ground level to look for problem signs such as loose or missing tiles. Check that TV aerials are securely fixed.

Look out for cracked, loose or missing pointing or rendering on exterior walls and arrange for this to be fixed before water finds its way in.

If your boiler and/or central heating needs servicing, make an appointment now before the engineers get booked up.

Clear out leaves and debris blocking up drain grilles and clean patios and footpaths.

Have chimneys and flues swept if you use an open fire or wood burner.

Get your insulation up to scratch - lag pipes and water tanks, fit draught excluders and insulate your loft properly.

Make sure your smoke alarms and carbon monoxide alarms are in full working order.

If you don't already know it, find out where the stopcock is and tell other family members too, as well as where to turn off electricity and gas supplies in case of emergency.

It does no harm to keep an emergency kit handy with candles and matches/lighter for use during a power shortage.

A few simple checks now could save you a great deal of trouble in the long term.

How Many Should I See?

When looking for a property, it is natural to want to see as many as possible before making the "right" choice and common sense dictates that a handful of alternatives should be viewed before buying.

Our job as professional estate agents is to help buyers make decisions that are genuinely in their best interests, which, without our assistance, they might have had difficulty making. So here are some pointers for those buyers who might be struggling to balance the merits of No.33 with its new kitchen against No.16, with the better garden.

First, there is a place for instinct and sometimes the heart should be allowed to influence, if not rule, the head. This is a home after all and not a stock-market share. Ask yourself the obvious question, "Could I be happy here?"

However, sometimes you need your head to agree with your heart. Is your favoured property a significant improvement on where you already live, or are you just being bowled over by a smart exterior or fashionable lighting?

Weigh up the important aspects of life commuting time, school run, parking, entertaining space (although do you really entertain that much?) Satisfy these first before allowing the view or the extra storage space to sway you away from your reason for moving.

Finally, you can bet your bottom dollar that if you instinctively like a particular house, other buyers will as well. We usually find that a property that fills most people's basic needs, as opposed to their wants, will sell very quickly. The more you see, the more difficult it becomes to make a decision at all. So our advice is: decide your minimum criteria with your head and once these are satisfied in a property, let your heart take it from there. Happy hunting!

The new supercar

MATT JOY

THE supercar has been reinvented for the 21st Century. Mention the 'S' word to most people and they think of crazy looks and monstrous performance but crucially the other thing that springs to mind is a near-absence of usability.

For some people at least it's not a supercar if you can see out of it and your spinal column is still intact at the end of the journey.

There's another element at work here too. The Porsche 911 has been an aspirational sports car for exactly 50 years, since it was launched at the Frankfurt Motor Show in 1963.

And yet for all that love for some reason it hasn't been regularly regarded as supercar material. But that might well be about to change.

Turbocharged 911s have always delivered a fearsome amount of performance in a pretty compact package, but the current 991-series of 911 now has a turbo model of its own. Two, to be precise; the Turbo and Turbo S. Both use the same 3.8-litre twin-turbocharged flat six engine, but the faster S has a

Fact File

Porsche 911 Turbo S

£140,852

ENGINE: 3.8-litre petrol unit producing 552bhp
TRANSMISSION: 7-speed dual-clutch driving all four wheels
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 197mph, 0-62 in 3.1s
ECONOMY: 29.1mpg
CO² RATING: 227g/km

mighty 552bhp and 516lb.ft of torque - although there's an overboost function which serves up 553lb.ft for short bursts.

That sounds like a lot because it is. Squeezing 552bhp into 1,600kg is going to deliver spectacular performance, particularly when all that power is harnessed so well.

The Turbo S uses the same four-wheel drive system already seen in the 911 Carrera 4, alongside the superlative seven-speed PDK dual-clutch gearbox. A further refinement to the gearbox includes 'virtual' gears - additional ratios created by a degree of clutch slip to boost efficiency.

Efficiency might seem pretty unimportant in a car like this but the fact that the Turbo S is still capable of 29.1mpg when driven with restraint just illustrates its remarkable versatility.

Just like any current 911, the Turbo S offers a very civilised drive when required. The seats are comfortable and very supportive, the PDK gearbox operates seamlessly and that mighty engine is quiet when you want it to be.

That might sound like a recipe for a dull machine, but in truth even a car like this will spend the majority of its time being driven sedately, in town, in traffic or on its way to somewhere possibly more exciting.

When you're in the mood to just get home with a minimum of fuss, it's happy to oblige and more than capable.

That is half the story, however. You get a hint of what's on offer even when driving normally; give the accelerator a delicate extra squeeze away from the lights and even with plenty left in reserve it pulls away as if it's being towed by a passing jet plane.

But to really experience what it can do you need to push a few buttons. Slip the transmission into manual mode, hit the Sport Plus button and get ready.

Gear changes are speeded up, the active dynamics system stiffens the suspension and the active aerodynamics are deployed for increased downforce.

The results are spectacular. The engine responds instantly to the accelerator and, whatever the revs, delivers a breathtakingly emphatic shove forwards.

It never lets up either; the next gears snap in instantaneously to give one long, huge surge of acceleration for as long as you dare flatten the pedal.

You can experience the full force of this by initiating a launch control start; simply squeeze the brake with your left foot, floor the accelerator then release the brake. All four wheels dig down and put all that power to the road in an instant.

Such is the force at work it is genuinely dizzying in first gear and 62mph passes in 3.1 seconds, but it feels even faster than that.

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Hawks' Southend upset evokes memories of '79

Harlow Tn Southend Utd
(Essex Senior Cup, third round)

HAWKS manager Danny Chapman was in a positive mood after his side beat Southend United 3-2 in the Essex Senior Cup third round at The Harlow Arena, writes ROSS WEBBER.

Goals from Danny Brown, Alex Read and Shane Stamp saw the Hawks defeat a Southend side full of talented youngsters on Saturday.

It put Harlow into the last 16 of the competition.

The tie evoked memories of Harlow's classic FA Cup run in the 1979-80 season when they knocked out the Football League team, along with Gary Lineker's Leicester on the way to the fourth round.

Chapman was pleased with his side following a disappointing start to the month.

The Hawks boss said: "It's another win and it's very pleasing. It's important to put together a string of positive results because that then builds confidence."

The highlight of a quiet first half came after just two minutes when Read's header was cleared off the Southend line.

Former Brighton player James Smith combined well with Read throughout the game and after 32 minutes the latter nearly found his strike partner with a dangerous cross, which came to nothing.

Harlow started the second half well and took the lead after 50 minutes when a free-kick was swung into the Southend box from Robbie Martin and Brown's header looped over former Bishop's Stortford loan goalkeeper Luke Chambers.

There was almost an instant reply from Southend when a shot from another ex-Blues loanee, striker Seedy Njie, was half saved by Hawks goalkeeper Darren Behcet and eventually cleared off the line.

Harlow extended their lead after 63 minutes when Read stabbed home at the near post after some good wing play from Stamp.

It was looking comfortable for the Hawks until a defensive error allowed Njie a one-on-one opportunity, which he converted on 74 minutes.

Any nerves were put to bed however when Stamp rifled a shot from just outside the area into a top corner after a fine pass from Brown in midfield.

Stamp accompanied his goal with a Daniel Sturridge-style dance celebration, which entertained the crowd.

Southend were awarded a penalty in injury-time after Njie was brought down inside the area. The striker converted the spot-kick with aplomb.

It was in vain however and the scoreline flattered Southend, which disappointed Chapman.

The Hawks manager said: "We should have won 3-0 today but we conceded two sloppy goals late on and the lads need to learn from that."

Chapman was also keen for his side to carry on their positive run.

He said: "If we pick up 10 points every five games then we are guaranteed to make the play-offs but our aim this season is to finish as high as we possibly can. The main target this season is the league but if we do well in the cup then great."

HARLOW TOWN: Behcet, Glowacki (Dadson), Eadie, Antoine, Brown, Blewitt, Martin, Muguo (Curley), Read, Smith, Stamp. Subs not used: McKenzie, Barnard, May. Att: 161.

FOOTBALL: Danny Chapman's men ended their disappointing run of late as they progressed to the third round of the Robert Dyas League Cup with a dominant 1-0 win away to Ryman division one north rivals Waltham Forest.

The Hawks' best chance came in the 14th minute as James Smith fired a powerful right-footed shot which the Forest keeper David Myers superbly tipped onto a post.

Junior Dadson should have opened the scoring midway through the half but the ball was stabbed off the line by the retreating defenders.

The home defence was finally breached in the 76th minute as Dadson latched onto a perfect through ball from playmaker Smith and fired low across home custodian Myers into a bottom corner.

Forest did try and find a way through to equalise but some strong defending from captain Darren Blewitt and make-shift centre back Leon Antoine ensured nothing troubled Hawks stopper Darren Behcet.

Meanwhile, the HARLOW TOWN FC U-15 team continued their excellent form in the Eastern Junior Alliance with a sixth win out of six.

They beat Barton Rovers 20-1. Goal scorers were Daniel Dileto (4), Zach Birse (4), Cameron Currie (3), man of match Ellis Christodoulou (3), Callum Lee (2), Ted Richardson (2), Josh Ward and Chika Odele.

RUNNING: Harlow Running Club member Jamie Jephcott completed the Abingdon Marathon in 162nd place out of 703 finishers in an excellent 3 hours, 14 minutes and 16 seconds.

He was followed home by Peter Ayling in his debut at the distance in 635th place in 4:36.21.

Jephcott finished the Gunpowder Parkrun 5K at Waltham Abbey in second place out of 86 finishers in a superb 18.59 only the previous day.

He was followed by son Daniel in 5th place and 1st junior in 20.10.

Also running were Terry Pike (35th, 25.26), Debbie Barry (36th, 25.30, PB) and Jane Evans (51st, 28.26).

At the first round of the Metropolitan Cross Country League held over a hilly 5 mile course at Woodford, John Tennant finished in 293rd place out of 371 finishers and 2nd Vet 60 in 36.47.

He was followed by Sean Flynn (316th, 38.31), Mark Hayward (328th, 39.37), Andy Ramage (334th, 40.26) and Matt Jones (347th, 41.44). At the Cabbage Patch 10 Mile race at Twickenham, Steve Murtagh finished in 29th place out of 1,600 finishers and 1st Vet 45 in an excellent 56.33.

At The Major, a 10K obstacle (hills, mud and water) race held at Eridge Park near Royal Tunbridge Wells, Andy Kinney finished in 702nd place out of 1,419 finishers in 2:04.03.

HOCKEY: Harlow Ladies leapfrogged Croxtly II to climb off the foot of the Essex Hockey League premier division table with their first victory of the new campaign.

Harlow had struggled with numbers in previous games but 13 showed up on Saturday at Leventhorpe School.

Launching into constant attack from the start and sustaining the pressure the hosts soon scored with skipper Georgina Smith putting a cross from Emma Tweddle into the net.

Short corners were plentiful and the opposition certainly felt the pressure as they were desperate for a first win of the season too.

Tweddle converted a corner fired into the back of the box to take the ladies to 2-0 up at half-time.

The second half saw a lot of excellent passing and another four corners which nearly resulted in more goals.

Croxtly refused to give up and went close from a couple of breaks, however Harlow held onto a much-needed win and hopefully a sign of previous form from last season.

Player of the match was Bethan Spencer.

HARLOW: Smith, Shearman, Ferdinando, Chambers, Castle,

Trimble, Figg, Turner, Tweddle, Spencer, Thomas, Rowley, Hansson.

BASKETBALL: Harlow Hawks pulled off an excellent 61-56 victory over previously unbeaten Ware Wolves in division two of the Herts League.

Hawks started the better of the two teams with Russ Allan and Roan Lenihan finishing well as the home side led 21-10 at the end of the first quarter.

Harlow were only 30-28 up at half-time as Ware fought back.

Lenihan provided the offensive spark in the third quarter as he nailed seven points in succession to put Harlow 47-35 ahead heading into the final quarter.

Lee Morris and Allan's superb three pointers secured the win.

HARLOW HAWKS: Lenihan (12pts), Allan (12pts), Stonehouse (11pts), Moss (9pts), Morris (9pts), Jones (6pts), Norkellunas (2pts), Adnan, Friedner, Khatiri, White, Martin.

Canaan triumphs in Metropolitan League

FIFTEEN-year-old Mark Hall School student Canaan Solomon secured an excellent victory in the ATW Metropolitan Cross Country League U-17 race at Woodford.

Over 4km, Canaan beat international runner Paolos Asgodum, to win in a time of 13 minutes and 30 seconds over the slippery course.

Perry Rowan (16), a Harlow College student, was 19th in the same race in 15.27.

In the U-15 race, there was a very brave effort from Burnt Mill School student Owen Armstrong (14) despite recovering from a broken arm. He placed 16th out of the 44 starters in 16.03.

His fellow student Jack Shury was 40th in 20.00.

In the U-13 boys race from 60 starters over 3km, Alfie Poole, a 12-year-old Stewards School student was 7th in 11.30.

Behind Alfie was Mark Hall student David Badmus (11) in 23rd place in 12.23.

In the U-17 girls race over 4km Alicia McArdeell (16) had a good race to place 4th in 16.55.

Mark Hall's Jodie Ratcliff (14) was 9th in the U-15 girls race over the same distance.

Rosie Poole (14), a Stewards School student, was 11th in the same race.

Burnt Mill student Kyesha Robinson (12) took 8th out of 50 starters in the U-13 girls race over 3km in 13.11.

Two places further back was Mia Hirons, a St Nicholas student, who ran 13.20.

Boss: Leon can be Hawks mane man

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman is hoping he has unearthed a gem in the shape of Leon Antoine, after switching the striker to a new position at centre-half.

The former Bishop's Stortford and Heybridge forward has impressed in the last two games there and Harlow Town boss Chapman, who has been snubbed in his approaches for two Conference South central defenders, believes he can call a halt to his search for more additions to his backline.

The Hawks owners had stumped up enough cash for Boreham Wood player Mark Bentley, but he decided to switch to Wealdstone, rather than drop down two divisions.

Another centre-half with Conference South experience, also spurned Harlow's approach and instead stayed at his unnamed Ryman premier club.

But Chapman believes it could be a blessing in disguise if Antoine continues his impressive form at the back.

"Leon has all the attributes needed to be a centre-half. Aerially he is quick and strong, he puts his foot in. He has done really well. That could be something that could progress for us," beamed Chapman.

"He is powerful in the air and he has the pace that's needed for that position. He won't make as many mistakes as he learns about the position. He's a very receptive person. We are moulding him into a defender."

Having picked up two cup wins

THE LEON KING: Striker Leon Antoine has been converted to a centre-half in a week (see inside for reports), Chapman was hugely disappointed that Tuesday's away league game to Witham was called off due to a waterlogged pitch.

However, the Hawks boss is looking for three points away to Cheshunt on Saturday as he hopes to close the gap on the play-off places in Ryman division one north.

"The mood among the camp is really good at the moment. We need to get some momentum going. We have to make sure we claw these points back and get into the play-offs - and that starts on Saturday at Cheshunt," said Chapman.

The Ambers are now managed by former Arsenal player Omer Riza. "The new manager has come in and made quite a few changes. They have been picking up results. It's not going to be an easy game," said the Hawks boss.

"We will need to be 100 per cent spot on to get something there."

Harlow will be without right-back Donny Barnard who pulled a hamstring in training on Tuesday and will be out for three weeks.

With so many new signings over the last month, Chapman has looked to trim his squad and defender Michael Akande has been released by the club to enable him to join Ryman premier side Cray Wanderers.

Harlow have also freed striker Scott Williams, who has switched to Ryman division one north rivals Brentwood.

A DEPLETED Harlow Hawks squad suffered a heavy defeat at the hands of division two new boys Berko Bears.

The Hawks had only eight players on Sunday with coach Shab Niaz suiting up. This match also saw the debut of guard Sam Kmita, returning to the sport from a knee injury.

The first quarter was fast-paced with the Berko Bears scoring nine points within the first four minutes with four points to the Hawks.

The Bears were able to extend their lead with fast transition points from a number of turnovers.

Hawks' Lee Morris and coach Niaz were able to respond with some important three pointers between which the Bears scored 12 points.

The quarter finished 30-16 to the Bears, creating a hill to climb for the Hawks.

The Bears maintained their lead with Hawks struggling to trim the deficit.

Morris (four points this quarter) and Russ Stonehouse (six points this quarter) led the scoring but the Bears were capitalising on their speed and further turnovers from Hawks and this quarter ended with Berko opening up a 63-36 advantage.

In the third quarter the Hawks managed to step up a gear and opened the quarter with nine points in three minutes with a couple of big three pointers from Kmita to bring the deficit within 25 points.

Hawks won this quarter and by the end had brought the score to 76-55.

Three pointers from Niaz, Morris and Kmita helped Hawks add points in the last quarter.

In the final minutes Hawks were still playing with determination and played hard defensively and traded the last few baskets but lost 106-77.

HARLOW HAWKS: S. Kmita (21 points), S. Burgess 0, S. Friedner (2), T. White (12), R. Stonehouse (12), L. Morris (14), S. Niaz (13), S. Martin (3).
